The gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ is now reaching more villages than we anticipated and many villagers are now requesting to plant churches including in villages where witchcraft was considered a religion. We can't wait to see the Tambo evangelists raised from among the saved to carry the gospel further in Tambo land.

Besides sharing the gospel verbally in Tambo land, we started a night school where we are teaching villagers how to read and write. We are trusting the Lord that this school will go along way in meeting the literacy needs of the Tambo people. This school may become a regular school where we will be able to teach children as well. This will help reduce illiteracy by providing schools for children who currently cannot attend due to the lack of educational facilities in the area. This will empower the villagers in the long term. NCM Field Staff Joel

We showed the Jesus Film in Kaizya and this was the first time that people in this village have seen the Jesus film. It is a powerful tool that God is using especially because the residents are curious and are eager to watch. Three elderly Muslim men asked us to pray for them, it was wonderful and encouraged us. NCM Field Staff Esaya

I am Baiton Katyetye, 20 years of age. I was initiated into witchcraft and I became a hero in my own eyes and celebrated the powers since that was how I made a living. One day after a successful stealing spree, I met Rev Joel Bowa. It is as if something told him I was a thief because of the words he read to me from the Bible that touched my heart. The word was simple but very strong and it made me realize I was a sinner. I opened my heart to receive Jesus Christ. I have stopped my evil practices and am now following Christ.

We have opened one discipleship meeting under a tree. I have learned that the other tribes around the Yao Muslims are in need of the gospel as well and as we share God's Word with the Yao, we also witness Christ to the local tribes. Most of the Yao we have spoken to say they are forced to follow Islam because of poverty. Islam is their source of livelihood because of the food items they receive monthly. We appreciate God for the salvation of 1 Yao Muslim who gave her life to Christ and the gospel being preached to other local tribes in the villages. NCM Field Staff Julius

CLEAN WATER PROJECTS

ZAMBIA CLEAN WATER PROJECT

Our new borehole project is located in the Muzinantu community in Mpulungu, Zambia, which is about 1,000 kilometers away from the capital. This area is home to a diverse mix of tribes, and there is a noticeable increase in the Muslim population. The Islamic community in Zambia is actively investing to turn Mpulungu into an Islamic district by 2030. Currently, there is only one water source, a stream, on which many households depend.

The NCM-Zambia team is working closely with community leaders in Mpulungu to complete the borehole project. Soon, clean water will be available to benefit over 7,000 households, who are also our target audience for sharing the teachings of Jesus. The introduction of this borehole is seen as a divine intervention, bringing immense joy to the villagers as they anticipate having access to clean water. This borehole is of great significance to our mission, serving as a strategic way to spread the gospel, much like the story of Jesus meeting the Samaritan woman at a well. It represents a crucial step in our efforts. NCM NC Richard Kakuwa
